RSIPF witness launching of by-law in Malaita Province

Malaita Provincial Police Commander (PPC) Chief Superintendent Stanley Riolo has witnessed the launching of by-law for Gou'ulu community in Malaita Province on 1 August 2021.

Speaking during the launching ceremony PPC Riolo says, "I on behalf of the RSIPF and the officers, happy to witness the launching of your community by-law."

PPC Riolo says, "It is a good initiative that your community also have decided to establish and launched a by-law for the good and betterment of the community and the future generation. This is one of the activities that RSIPF have worked hard for it in the Crime Prevention Strategy."

Chief Superintendent Riolo says, "This is a way we could go through in addressing social issues in our communities. I am happy that there are four females involved in the Crime Prevention Committee (CPC)."

Riolo adds, "Working together will make our community a safer place for our children. Please respect the by-laws and work together with the police to address the issues that may arise in our communities. It can be tough at times but need respect to one another. Our children will learn from us and maintain from where we left them so we can live in a crime free society."
