RSIPF complete their Certificate IV in Leadership and Management training

Officers of the Royal Solomon Islands Police Force (RSIPF) participating in the Certificate IV in Leadership and Management Program achieved a milestone, in completion of all virtually delivered lessons by the Australia Pacific Training Coalition (APTC), at the Kwaimani Building classrooms at Kukum on Friday 12 November 2021.

Director learning and Development Superintendent James Teilo says, “The RSIPF participants have received scholarships from the Pacific Faculty of Policing (PFP) in Australia, who currently fund leadership and management programs for Police, throughout the Pacific, through their ongoing partnership with APTC.”

Superintendent Teilo says, “The Australian Federal Police (AFP) is pleased to support the Certificate IV in Leadership and Management training which is delivered through the Policing Partnership Program (RAPPP).

Advisor Steven Bonnici says, “The AFP through the RAPPP is pleased to be able to support this valuable training, but it would not be made possible without the scholarship support of the Pacific Faculty for Policing and the valuable partnership with APTC.”

He says, “This group is to be congratulated for their commitment towards their own leadership development and for their ongoing service in maintaining a safe, secure and peaceful Solomon Islands.”

Director Teilo says, “I would like to acknowledge RAPPP for their continuous support rendered to the RSIPF and to the staff of APTC for the training.”
