An adult male person charge for traffic accident over the weekend

Officers of the Royal Solomon Island Police Force (RSIPF) at National Traffic Department (NTD) have charged an adult male person for a traffic accident over the weekend (28 October 2022) close to Multi-Purpose hall in Honiara.

Director NTD Superintendent William Foufaka says, "The defendant was driving a white Toyota Hilux heading down to western side of the Honiara, when involved in a Traffic accident.

Director Foufaka says, "The vehicle ditched into the drain and overturned. Traffic frontline Officers attended the scene and alleged that the defendant was drunk upon observation."

Superintendent Foufaka says, "The defendant has been charged for careless driving and driving under the influence of liquor."

Mr. Foufaka says, "The defendant was released on bail condition and will appear before the Honiara Central Magistrates' Court on 22 November 2022."
